Focus on Ministry

Nearly 300 high schoolers like you huddled together in New Ulm last week to find out firsthand what life at MLC is really like. They attended classes, talked to coaches, swam and played basketball at Vogel, listened to Koiné, watched Singin' in the Rain, and hung out with friends in the dorm. They also went on tours led by Student Ambassadors like Jarroed Pfarr (Shoreland) and Caleb Klatt (West), pictured. "I think everybody had a good time," Caleb said. "I know I did. It's great to meet so many people that I might work with in the ministry one day!" The Focus trip is one experience that Jacob Reich (Great Plains) will never forget. "The best part was seeing young men like me with a desire for the pastoral ministry, digging into the Word in the original languages." God-willing, in a year or two, many of the students who visited this weekend will be at MLC preparing for the public ministry.

Cafeteria Karaoke

Every college student needs a daily interruption or two to break up the monotony of studying. What's better than showing the rest of the school the shining superstar singer hidden inside? Luke Bramstedt (Manitowoc), who works as a DJ, came up with the idea of holding karaoke nights in the caf, and he runs them as well. "I really had no idea how it would go over with the student body," he says, "but Mr. Jack Minch (head of late night in the cafeteria) thought we could give it a try. We did, and it was a success!" Whether you've got the voice of an angel or are tone deaf, you can still amuse the crowd, as Andy Westra (LPS) and Sam Otto (LPS) did with their rousing rendition of "All Star," or as Garrett Schoch (MLS) and Dyllan Jensen (Lakeside), pictured, did with one of their personal favorites: "Man! I Feel Like a Woman!"

Daylight Trips

What do MLC students do on spring break? Some get the amazing privilege of traveling to new parts of the country to help congregations with canvassing, VBS, soccer camps, etc. Charissa Scharf (LPS) reflects on her trip last summer: "Helping the church in Hawaii was a once-in-a-lifetime experience for me.

Working with the people there and spreading God's Word to the adorable kids was unforgettable. We got to see God's beautiful creation, play some soccer, and witness to people who have never heard God's Word." Just announced: destinations for this year's spring break include Las Vegas, Colorado Springs, Austin, Tucson, and more!

Leslie Prothero and Liz Sherwood (both WISCO) went to South Windsor CT for Daylight. There they met Brianna Enderle (center).
