Campus Photographer

The campus photographers capture Knight-life highlights—from soccer games to Homecoming activities to pictures for this publication! Students who love taking quality photos should check out these paid positions.

“Being a campus photographer has opened up a wide variety of opportunities for me,” says Jeremiah Wallander (FVL / Eternal Love-Appleton WI), “including being able to start my own photography business. What I enjoy most is getting to interact with so many of my classmates at different events. Capturing happy people is always my favorite.”

Alumni Relations Assistant

When we caught Elena Mueller (DSA / Divine Savior-Doral FL), she was preparing for a Homecoming event by cutting out cardboard Martin Luther heads. Although this isn't normally on her to-do list as an assistant in the Alumni Relations Office, she is used to helping with a variety of tasks.

“I work with the MLC archives a lot—converting things like old yearbooks, documents, and pictures into digital format to preserve and share our college's history,” she says. “But I also assist in preparing for events that include and celebrate our alumni. It's awesome to see lots of MLC history and be a part of making it happen!” Office jobs like this one offer behind-the-scenes experience in the departments that keep everything running at MLC.

Student Athletic Trainer

Becca Doering (Lakeside / St. Paul-Lake Mills WI) has become an expert at wrapping injured ankles. While some may squirm at the sight of so many feet, Becca enjoys her job as student athletic trainer. “I love working with the athletes!” she says.

The athletic department offers an assortment of paid opportunities to MLC students. Knights not participating in a sport can still be a part of the action as game announcers, statisticians, videographers, or some other exciting position! Athletics are a great part of Christian education. When these students are called out to churches and schools, they'll have some varied skills that will allow them to help out the area grade-school or high-school teams. Becca says, “Working as a student athletic trainer allows me to learn a lot of things that I can use in my future ministry as a physical education teacher and coach.”

These are just a sampling of the many diverse on-campus jobs at MLC. What are you interested in? Check out music, athletics, admissions, the Student Success Center, library, cafeteria, and more!
