Look Who's Cooking in the Caf!

Ben Schnose (MLS / St. Paul-Livonia MI) and Ethan Denninger (West LHS / Redeemer-Maple Grove MN)

“The caf is great,” explains Ethan Denninger, “but sometimes you just get a craving for eggs like Mama used to make back home. Luckily, the self-cook area allows you to make your eggs just the way you like.”

Making Mama’s homemade eggs is just one option at the self-cook station. A spread of ingredients like pre-cooked meats, veggies, cheeses, rice, and even fresh herbs calls out to the culinary master inside many an MLC Knight! With the array of spices and sauces, some students concoct signature curry dishes or one-of-a-kind stir-frys while others create five-star omelets or cheesy chicken quesadillas.

When busy schedules full of classes, jobs, and co-curriculars don’t agree with the caf’s meal hours, the self-cook station saves the day. Ben Schnose agrees: “The self-cook station is great because I can have a hot meal whenever I need it.”

Whether students are looking for a taste of home, a unique flavor combo, or a hearty four-o’clock supper, the self-cook station provides. Get creative and cook something up next time you’re on campus!

The College Choir Experience

Raquel Freese (Klein Collins HS-TX / Abiding Word-Houston), Madison Leckwee (KML / Trinity-West Bend WI), Emma Schibbelhut (LHS / St. Paul-Onalaska)

“College Choir is amazing because everyone there sings with a purpose,” explains first-year Becky Heyer (FVL / Immanuel-Greenville WI).

Students who are stricken with a love of praising God by singing—and who survive the audition process—make up the Martin Luther College Choir. While most elementary and preseminary majors enroll in one of the other three great choirs or music skills classes that meet two or three times a week, College Choir singers rehearse every day, travel to churches on weekends, and spend spring break on tour in the US, Canada, even Mexico.

The five first-years that College Choir welcomed into the family this year embrace the challenge of building on skills learned in high school while reaching for higher goals. Madison Leckwee explains, “College Choir is definitely a different environment from high school. It’s a higher performance level and much more of a commitment, but it’s such a great atmosphere since we all love to sing.”

Auditions for College Choir, Chorale, Women’s Choir, and Männerchor are held at the beginning of the school year. “The worst part of the auditions was the waiting,” Becky Heyer confesses. “I almost fainted when I heard the news that I had made it!”

Praising God in an MLC choir is one of the coolest privileges you can have here. If you want to experience it to the fullest, give College Choir a try.
